I was the Assessment Service coordinator for HIV Mental Health Services. As part of my duties, I received and tracked referrals for assessments, assigned cases to members of the team, tracked progress toward completion of assessments, and calculated statistics related to service productivity and quality assurance. I also provided assessment supervision for clinical psychology graduate student externs as they completed one year of clinical training through the service. Supervision included training in the administration of assessment instruments, training in the interpretation of results and in general concepts related to assessment, and reviewing reports and other documentation. I also created and maintained the policies and procedures manual for Mental Health Services.

Fall 2005 – Summer 2007

I served as the Clinical Assistant to the Director of Clinical Training (DCT), during which time I was responsible for a number of tasks related to administration of the clinical program and to program accreditation. Accreditation-related activities included assisting with creating the Self-

Study Report for submission to the APA Committee on Accreditation (contacted alumni, assisted with development of an alumni survey, created tables), creating and maintaining a database of information about past and current students for use in the Self-Study and annual APA reports, coordinating meetings with students about the accreditation process, and assisting with information gathering for the annual APA report. I also assisted with the internship application and matching process (coordinated meetings with internship applicants; assembled information about the internship process for applicants; maintained database of information about past applicants).

Duties related to the clinical program's qualifying exams included assisting in preparing and gathering assigned readings and making them available to students. General duties also included coordinating meetings with graduate students and the DCT and serving as a liaison for the DCT in terms of student input on issues related to training.
